

LIVELY CHASE.

Coon Hotfooted When the Marshal Wanted to Hold Private Conversation With Him.

THREE SHOTS FIRED AS HE FLED.

For several days City Marshal Igleheart has been on the lookout for a smooth coon who is said to have held up and robbed a man at Guthrie.

Tuesday morning he sighted Gano Henderson, who answered the description and told him he wanted to talk with him a little. Instead of stopping to talk, however, the darky fled wildly down Railroad street in the direction of No. 9 with the city marshal in hot pursuit. Ever and anon the marshal would fire a shot in the air with no other effect, however, than to accelerate the speed of the fleeing man. As he ran Gano pulled a .38 Smith & Wesson pistol from a holster and threw it away.

Finally he overtook a wagon containing two men and one of them jumped out, caught and held him until the Marshal arrived. Gano was once employed in the culinary department of Lawrence Kilroy's restaurant and has been away from Earlington a short time. It is now known he is not the man wanted at Guthrie for highway robbery.

JESSE PHILLIPS

Withdraws and Jno. W. Twyman Enters Race for Magistrate in this District.

Jesse Phillips, who was recently elected to fill out the unexpired term as magistrate of this district has requested us to announce that he has withdrawn from the race for the Democratic nomination for justice of the peace of the Earlington district. He will fill out the unexpired term, but finds that his duties as cashier of the bank would conflict to such an extent that he regards it inadvisable to accept the full term, although he appreciates the compliment of having no opposition.

Since Mr. Phillips' withdrawal Mr. Jno. W. Twyman has announced for the nomination.

An Evening With Miss Ashby.

Last Saturday evening at her home on Methodist Hill Miss Annie Ashby entertained a few of her friends at an informal dinner.

Ten games were played and a very pleasant evening passed all too quickly.

Very dainty refreshments were much enjoyed, and the friends adjourned at 11:15.

Jno. W. Twyman Announces as Candidate for Magistrate.

John W. Twyman is a candidate for magistrate in the Earlington district, subject to the action of the Democratic primary December 10. Mr. Twyman is one of the best democrats in this precinct and has always loyally supported the nominees of the party and helped to fight its battles here. He is a business man and in every way worthy and well qualified, and if nominated would command the respect and confidence of all parties in his district.

Cynthiana, Ky., Nov. 20.—Add Casey, son ex-Sheriff Tom Casey, who was defeated in the Democratic primary Saturday for County Judge, shot himself today. It is supposed that the dead was committed on account of depression over his father's close defeat. Young Casey is not expected to live.

BOOKER WASHINGTON

Gives Sensible Advice to His Race Concerning Their Actions in View of Election Returns.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 19.—In an address to the colored citizens, delivered here Monday night, Booker T. Washington said:

"Not a few have predicted that on account of the recent election many members of our race would lose their heads, would become unduly puffed up, self-assertive and generally offensive. With all the earnestness that I can command I want to urge our people in every part of the country to disappoint those who have made such predictions by leading a life of increased usefulness, soberness and simplicity, remembering, as I have often explained before, that in the long run it is to certain fundamental ideals of growth in property, intelligence and high characteristics, together with the cultivation of friendly relations with our neighbors of all races, that we must look for our ultimate success."

"The masses of our people are to dwell for all time in the South, and here it is that our destiny must be worked out, and we can only succeed when we have the confidence and co-operation of those about us."

KENTUCKY BOY IN

HULL FISHING FLEET.

Distinguished Himself in Rescuing Dead and Dying From the Crane.

Bowling Green, Ky., Nov. 17.—John Hauser, son of Mrs. Alice Hauser, of this city, was boat-swain on the Gull, one of the boats of the British fishing fleet which was fired on recently by the Russian squadron in the North Sea. He left home four years ago but is still quite young. He has written home to his mother that he was uninjured, but had a rather narrow escape, as the Gull was in the line of the frigate and near the Crane, the boat which was so badly damaged and whose skipper and third hand were killed. He also sent copies of the Hull (England) papers, which show that young Hauser distinguished himself as boat-swain of the Gull in rescuing the dead and dying from the sinking Gull. He had been with the fishing fleet for eighteen months.

The members of the board were driven out to the site, made a thorough inspection and expressed themselves as delighted with the estate. The money, which is on deposit in a local bank, will be turned over as soon as the title is approved.

The members of the Board of Control are Ruby Laffoon, of Madisonville; L. H. Davis, of Hopkinsville; E. T. Subank, of Bowling Green; R. O. Fitch, Winchester; H. V. Dumont, Newport; W. C. Quinby, Dayton; A. C. Green, Richmond, and John C. Thomason, Henderson.

Thanksgiving.

"God hath been very good," says He whose hand molded the sunny hills and hollowed out the shelter of the valleys, and doth keep the fountains in their secret places cool; and it is He who leadech up the sun, and ordered the starry influences, and tempereth the keenness of the frost—and therefore, in the plenty of the feast, and in the lifting of the cup, let Him have praise for the well completed year.—N. P. Willis.

WAS A SHOOTER AT NO. 11 MINE.

M. B. Cansler, who was employed as shooter at No. 11 mine, this place, was instantly killed Thursday night about 12 o'clock by falling slate in room 17 on East 8th entry.

George Haley and Lawson Miles, who run the air drill, had just drilled this room and left Mr. Cansler to shoot it. A short time afterward he was mised, and, on going back to look for him, he was found buried under a large piece of gob or slate. They, with the assistance of others, removed the slate and the dead man's body was conveyed home. An examination revealed the fact that his limbs were broken and his head badly mached.

He had been an employe of the company about five years and was regarded as one among their best employes.

The deceased was about fifty years old and leaves a wife and several children.

He was buried by the I. O. O. F. and the Golden Cross lodge at the Earlington cemetery Saturday and was followed to his last resting place by a large number of friends and acquaintances.

Good Spirits.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the West could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred-and-one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of good spirits. Price size, 25c. Regular bottles, 75c. At all druggists.

A very unique shooting contest took place here last night. The affair was pulled off by dim candle light and the guns used were rifles. The participants were Messrs. Lee Oldham, W. G. Barter, Ligon, Gus Morgan, M. B. Long, Steinbaugh, Renfrow and Skeen. The prizes were well divided, Gus Morgan winning first.

Maj. F. B. Harris, Capt. James R. Dean and others will be in Earlington Tuesday night, Nov. 23, for the purpose of organizing a camp of Sons of Confederate Veterans. This meeting will be held in J. M. Victory's office and those wishing to join are cordially invited to be present at 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

Rev. Klug will fill his regular appointment at the M. E. Church, South, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and evening at 7:30.

DEATH THROUGHOUT KENTUCKY.

No Good Rain for Two Months—Grain Not Sprouting.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 19.—No rain of any consequence has fallen in Kentucky for more than two months. Only .27 of an inch is recorded here during October, which was the driest month on record, and barely a trace of rain has fallen during the present month.

The drought has not only affected the vicinity of Louisville, but the entire State is suffering. Wheat sowed weeks ago is lying in the dust ungerminated, and fall pastures long ago shriveled into crisp wastes. Springs and small streams dried up weeks ago, and farmers living away from rivers have been put to great straits to secure water for their stock. Louisville physicians say a new form of throat and bronchial trouble, which they have named the "dust cough," has developed into almost intolerable conditions in this city.

The Successful Farmer.

The farm that pays the best is the one that is operated on the basis of producing only those things for which there is a demand. The successful farmer, like the successful merchant, is he who studies the needs of his customers and caters to their wants. A few days ago I heard an old judge remark that it does not require a man of much brains to become a lawyer or a doctor, and not such an unusually wise man to become a preacher, but it does require a man of extraordinary grey matter to make a successful farmer. He said he never met a successful and prosperous farmer but that he took off his hat, because he realized he was in the presence of a great man. Now, the more I study and observe the more I am convinced that this old judge was right. Also, in wanderings through the West—and I presume the same conditions hold good throughout America—I find that it is the small farm, conducted on the principle of supplying a need demand, that pays best.

The owner of the small farm is not a wheat king, nor a cattle king. He is not one who sits up nights figuring his assets and liabilities. He has a variety of products and "waste goods on his shelves." His ready cash is represented in his fat yearlings and two-year-olds—which he counts by the tens and threes and not by the hundreds—his flocks of sheep and their growth of wool, his goats and mohair, his fat porkers and mink cows. These are always ready money, and the demand is unlimited. Wheat, he raises in quantity sufficient to furnish bread for the farm table and feed for the porkers and fowls. His largest fields are those where the winter hay is grown. The orchard, occupying the south slope of the hillside, back of the farm house, is another source of income to the small farmer, as is the berry patch and the garden. After all have been marketed and stored, and the cold months of winter come, it is a delight to open the cellar door and get a whiff of the aroma of mellow apples, and the ripe scent of the pumpkins and vegetables, while he hies on after side—Cor. Kiptomat.

Pointers for Farmers.

Don't you know that while you own the stuff nobody can put a price on it but you?

Except what has been stolen. Considerable of it has been stolen in the name of being bought.

"What's the matter with the farmer?" "He's all right," when he stands for Equity as Gibraltar stands by the sea.

The next struggle is with the corn growers. The corn liar is already loading up, but if the farmers don't sell until they get their price they will get it; that is all there is to it.

There are now three great tobacco manufacturing companies, and these, it is said, are to combine to stop competition. What's the difference so far as the grower's market is concerned? He don't have to sell until he gets his price, and then it don't make any difference to him whether he sells to one company or a dozen.

Wheat has already reached 11.20, cotton has been within a few points of 12 cents, and all the other crops are pointing toward the maximum prices. The organized farmers may well congratulate themselves, and the unorganized should make haste to become organized. Self interest (not necessarily selfishness) is a justifying motive.

Farmers are in greater need of education in how and when to market than in any other lines. Whenever the market takes a downward turn every farmer wants to rush his stuff in. What could be more suicidal from a profit standpoint? The worst of all markets to sell on is a falling market, and that is the market that gets the stuff.

"The sellers are controlling the market," so say the leading market reports. Such expressions never came from that source before. A great many things are happening in the commercial world that never happened before, especially when farm produce is affected. The farmers are controlling the market. But, while that is true, no farmer should get "easy" and wait for others to do it. Let each one feel that he must do it himself.

Roosevelt, Jr., and Scarcrows.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., recently visited in Connecticut the family of E. S. Martin. One afternoon he observed a farmer making a scarecrow's toll. The scarecrow stood in the middle of a strawberry bed, and the farmer was tying a piece of rope about its waist. This done, he changed the angle of its hat a little. Then he tucked in the straw protruding from one boot. Finally he placed its hand on its hip, cocking the elbow jauntily.

"Do these scarecrows," asked young Roosevelt, "really save your crops?"

"Indeed they do," replied the farmer. "You see, every tramp that comes along crosses the field to see if the clothes are worth stealing, and that scares the crows away fine."

Agricultural Notes.

"This goes against the grain," said the farmer as he slipped the snail's shell.

Why is the calf's tail like the letter L?

Because it's the end of the tail.

"You shock me," the corn said to the farmer as he stripped the field.

"We seem to be at the end of our row," said the dullest plow to the jaded horse.

"In the wheat by and by," said the farmer.

"We shall meet by and by?" said the broker who was no farmer.

"You are no great shuckers, you need not wag your ears at me," remarked the tomato vine, and the corn stalked off.

Big Apples.

Sam Hardin, of Andyville, has been crowned "Apple King" of Meade county. His crop this season has been exceptionally fine. Some of his "Ben Davis" variety weighed fifteen ounces, and were perfect in every respect. Mr. Hardin grows his own trees and says they give better satisfaction than those brought from a distance as they are adapted to this section of country. He now has 10,000 young trees of his own growth ready for market.

One of the most remarkable crops grown in Fayette county this season, was a patch of tomatoes grown on three-quarters of an acre of ground on the Richardson Gibson place by James Hensley. The land on which the tomatoes were grown, was situated in a bottom, which is ordinarily marshy. It consequently was not affected by the drought, and the tomatoes produced were of the finest quality, and in prodigious quantities. It was one of the first patches in the county to begin producing, and when the frost caught it, it was still red with fruit.

Mr. Hensley says that he sold 1,000 bushels of tomatoes from the patch, at an average of 75 cents a bushel. Early in the season, he received as high as $1.50 a bushel. At the average price, Mr. Hensley sold $750 worth of tomatoes from the patch.

When a farmer gives his attention to a single crop he will devote the whole of his time to it, and receive larger yields. It is the specialty farmer that receives the extraordinarily large crop of corn or wheat, and if he is a dairyman he keeps only the best butter producing cows. It is the large yields that give the profit. A hundred bushels of corn per acre will cost but little more than half that quantity. On the other side, the specialty farmer relies upon a single crop may lose all if he is met with a prolonged drought, as he will have no other crop on which to rely.

Farmers who use coarse manure on land that is to be planted in corn will have short crops if the year should be a dry one. Coarse manure breaks up the capillary connection in the ground, allowing the air to get into the earth, and the corn roots dry out. Stable manure may be applied sparingly on fall-plowed land, but it should be well diced in the spring. Heavy, coarse manure should always be applied on grass land that is to be used for corn the following season.

Joseph Morgan, eldest son of Cal Morgan, a well known citizen of this place, died Wednesday morning at 4:45 o'clock of consumption. He was born in Earlinton Nov. 20th, 1877, and worked here for the St. Bernard Mining company until the fall of 1902 when he went to work for the L. & N. on the 1st Division between Louisville and Bowling Green and worked there until last June when he was forced to come home on account of declining health. Mr. Morgan was married to a Miss Ollie Tyler, of S. Smithville, Ky., several months ago and his remains were taken to that place for burial. He was a member of the Catholic church.

WORKING OVER TIME.

No Fault of Railroad When Its Employees Go Out on Run Fatigued.

The Railway and Engineering Review has the following to say about the working of railroad employees over time:

It has been a very common custom to abuse railroads for working men over time, and it has been equally common to ascribe many of the wrecks to that cause. The strange part of such a charge is the assertion that the practice proceeds from greed on the part of the roads, the writers apparently being ignorant of the fact that the men are paid by the hour and that it costs no more to pay two men ten hours each than one man working twenty hours. A court in Pennsylvania has lately taken a sensible view of the case. It appears that a freight train had orders to remain upon a side-track until four trains had passed and that, while waiting, the entire crew went to sleep. Being awakened by the passing of the train, they assumed that it was the fourth train and consequently pulled out and into the last train, which had not yet arrived. Two persons were killed and several injured, and on the trial of the engineer, whose case first came up, the plea was made that when a railroad employee falls asleep from physical weakness, from illness, or from weariness from long hours or steady employment and an accident occurs, the employee should be acquitted. The court overruled this plea, holding that no man had a right to work on a railroad unless in fine physical condition, and if he fell asleep, no matter from what cause, he should discontinue work, even though he should lose his position, rather than jeopardize the lives of passengers; and as a result the engineer was convicted.

This is a sensible as well as just ruling. A man himself is the best judge of his own fitness for such work so far as the matter of sleep is concerned; in fact he is the only one who can know of his condition in that regard. The absurdity of the charge commonly made against the railroads on this account lies in the fact that trainmen have the absolute choice of going on or staying off duty, and it not infrequently happens that trains are tied up en route because men prefer to go to sleep rather than work long hours overtime. If there is any "greed" connected with the matter it is wholly on the part of the men themselves, who naturally want to make large wages, and as a result frequently do go on in an unfit condition and thereby endanger not only their own lives, but the lives of others and the property of the company as well. It is full time that the responsibility in such cases should be fixed where it belongs, and the Pennsylvania court has made a move in the right direction.

The Illinois Central railroad is suffering greatly from the drought and is now forced to distribute, from Louisville, water to route tanks for use of passenger engines, and to carry an extra tank behind freight engines to supply the boilers on long dry strips of track. The Courier Journal says Princeton cannot be used in engine boilers on account of some mineral which corrodes the boilers. That paper quotes Trainmaster James as follows: "We have not had such an experience before in the history of the road," he said. "Ten years ago we were compelled to supply some of our route tanks, with water by hauling it in tanks, but the sources of nearly all our tanks at the inland towns are dry. If we do not have rain in a short time we will put on extra water trains. We are besieged at some places by farmers who say their supply of stock water is gone."

Anstn, Texas, Nov. 21.—Major John C. Lewis, traveling passenger agent of the Iron Mountain railway, is dead in this city, after a three weeks' illness. He was seventy-four years of age and was one of the oldest traveling passenger agents in the country, have been connected with the Iron Mountain system for the past thirty years.

Fireman Ben C. Thomas has resigned.

Fireman O. F. Junkerson was called to Ashley, Ill., last Friday on account of a death in his family.

Flagman R. C. Williams fell from the rear of train 98 not long since near McLeansboro while in the act of putting up a light, injuring himself about the head. The train came into Evansville without a flagman.

Charles Harris was called to Cannelton, Indiana, latter part of last week on the account of the serious illness of his father. John Streit, who has for some time been connected with Mr. Walsh's office as messenger, has transferred to the machine shop, where he will learn to be a machinist. He is succeeded by Fred Weleker.

Theodore Mode of E. St. Louis found firing not to be the snap he thought it was and has resigned.

Arthur Wright, painter, has gone to Paris, Tenn., to work

Fireman C. F. Shaw is spending the week at the Fair with his father.

Orley Reynolds and Roy McMillen went to E. St. Louis the first part of the week to do some electrical work for the company.

The Long Island Railroad system, operated by the Penna. R., is making preparations to replace all their locomotives with electric motors.

Since a button was the means of saving the life of brakeman E. L. Martin, who was shot at by a negro hobo of the lowest type at Henderson late Sunday night, no doubt one of Mr. Martin's future maxims will be, "Look well to your buttons; a button lost may be a life lost."

Willie Boyd, who was injured near Sebree several days ago by the train breaking into and running together, is improving rapidly and will soon be able to get out on his run.

Conductor Albert Hawes, who was injured some days ago on account of his train breaking into and running together at Crofton, is getting along nicely and will soon be able for duty.

SMALLPOX.

The State Board of Health has issued a warning against smallpox in which it is announced that cases of the disease are being reported in widely separated sections in many counties throughout the State, and of officials and citizens are urged to take the promptest means to prevent an epidemic. Startling facts are stated in the first paragraph of this address, as follows:

Since January, 1898, smallpox has prevailed, more or less extensively, in every county in Kentucky, with a total of over 25,000 cases and 300 deaths, and costing in cash more than one-half million dollars. Besides an estimated loss from interference with business and travel of something over one and one-half million dollars. Properly expended, this sum would have been more than enough to have guarded the health interests of our people for a generation, besides keeping every resident of the State vaccinated so that the existence of anything but an imported case of smallpox would have been impossible.

Vaccination and re-vaccination is urged, together with the immediate isolation of suspects. It is stated that grown people never have chicken-pox and that there are no such diseases as "elephant itch," "African itch," "army itch," "cedar itch," or "Cuban itch," but that these are merely vulgar names for mild varieties of small-pox. The use of humanized virus is recommended, "especially in country districts where the family physician can select it himself from the arms of healthy children and young girls." It is "more certain to take, causes less soreness, and is believed to give better and longer protection."

Just now Hopkins County is in good shape in this connection. The disease has been looked after carefully and kept under good control for several years past in Earlington, Madisonville and the other county towns. Our county and city health boards are active and well equipped. An occasional imported case has shown up in the county during the past few months but they have been promptly looked after. This is not the case everywhere. In Christian county the disease has been active for some time and cases originating there have turned up in Hopkins and Henderson counties and probably elsewhere. Under recent threat of quarantine, made by the State health board, compulsory vaccination has been ordered at Hopkinsville and throughout Christian county and the authorities there are now actively engaged in an effort to stop the spread and control the disease.

There is but one safeguard against smallpox, vaccination; and that is positive and safe. We endorse what the State Board says:

Every person in the State who has not already been vaccinated should do so at once, and the ignorant or negligent should be compelled to protect themselves, for the benefit of their communities, by the proper authorities.

OUR ELECTION TABLE.

A feature of this issue of The Bee was crowded to the wall by demand on our advertising space last week. We refer to the official tabulated election returns for Hopkins county. This is our annual feature of general interest, for the reason that The Bee has a long established record for exact accuracy in publication of official election returns, and strange as it may seem, has often been the only paper in the county to publish the election returns accurately. In addition to being alone in the fields of accuracy this year, The Bee presents some very interesting comparisons with the vote in the gubernatorial election of 1903. These comparisons are made by precincts in the majorities and in the total vote cast by the Republicans and the Democrats in these two elections. In our issue of November 10th we showed as accurately as could be with the figures then at hand, how great had been the Democratic defection and how general the Republican gains in Hopkins county. But the figures were then neither complete nor accurate.

Today we present this information in tabulated form, so conveniently arranged that all may be seen at a glance. This is a good table to file away for future reference and will be of interest to all who are interested in county politics.

BREGLARS are but frail human beings and prone to err. Last week one entered the home of the editor of the Versailles paper.

A BOWLING GREEN boy was with the Hull fishing fleet when the Russian squadron "came, saw and conquered." The mystery will probably be explained by the discovery that the Kentuckian fired the first shot. He should have left his pocket gun at home.

LOCAL hunters who frequent the possum preserves should have more consideration for the valuable young forests that are so easily destroyed by fire from a carelessly handled camp. Hundreds of acres of woodland covered with young timber growth near Earlington have been rendered blackened wastes during the past week, and the most reasonable cause is camp fire sparks.

It is announced in a Washington dispatch that President Roosevelt has ordered an immediate investigation of the Standard Oil Company to determine whether it is an illegal combination in restraint of trade. The investigation is to be thorough, and the President hopes to prosecute it to a finish before his term expires. It is said that he has determined that the Standard Oil monopoly shall be broken, and that the investigation would have been begun last summer had he not feared his action would be criticised as prompted by political motives.

In 1900 President McKinley received 292 electoral votes; Mr. William Jennings Bryan, 155. McKinley's popular plurality was 800,000. This year President Roosevelt will receive 336 electoral votes; Judge Parker, 140. In Maryland seven votes go to Parker and one to Roosevelt. Roosevelt's popular plurality will be about 2,000,000. This has made such a deep impression on the public mind that the New York American says: "If the Filipinos had voted, it might have been worse," and the Washington Star rises to announce that "Mr. Bryan is a bigger man than ever in a party that is smaller than ever."

A Brilliant Spectacle.

One of the most brilliant spectacles presented this season will be produced by the A. G. Field Greater Minstrels and will consist of a Military Review of the country's history. It is called by A. G. Field "White Old Glory Waves," and consists of a series of magnificent tableaux representing the principal martial events in all the wars in which the American volunteer has participated. These spectacles are accompanied by patriotic songs and the last tableau is a tribute to "Old Glory" and includes a drill of rough riders and the review of the soldiers of all the various wars in the uniforms they wore at the time. So massive is this feature that Mr. Field has been compelled to add an extra 50 foot baggage car to carry it.

HARRY HERESFORD,
Fam Maker.

The Hardin county grand jury has indicted J. R. Neighbors, the saloonkeeper, for assault and battery for striking Mrs. Carrie Nation the Kansas temperance lecturer, over the head with a chair in this city several months ago. Neighbors, immediately after the event, waived an examining trial and was placed under bond to await the action of the grand jury.

A LIFE SAVED

READ THIS LETTER FROM A GRATEFUL KENTUCKIAN

Princeton, Ky., Feb. 4th, 1905
I wish to state for the Foerg Remedy Co., of Evansville, Ind., that I believe their great blood purifier, saved my brother's life some ten years ago. He was troubled with a blood disease, and I feared he could not be helped until he took Foerg's Remedy, and he was cured. After taking five bottles he was entirely relieved of his trouble, and when he died some five years ago he was entirely well of that disease. I also took two bottles as a blood purifier and was much benefited.

BRIQUETTE MANUFACTURE

Problem Falls of Solution at Government Plant at St. Louis.

ALL YET IN EXPERIMENTAL STAGE.

Among the most interesting tests made by the government at the fuel-testing plant of the United States Geological Survey, at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, are the attempts at successful manufacture of briquettes from various American coals. A report of the Department of the Interior gives this account of the tests made:

The operation of the briquetting plants has been most interesting, as it has shown that there are many problems involved in this really pioneer work which require more careful study than is possible under the conditions under which these plants are operated. As this is almost entirely pioneer work in the utilization of American coals, not only must each coal be carefully studied, but the character of the binder, the heats to which the material should be subjected, and the pressure to be placed upon the briquette, are all matters of individual research.

It was not until September 23 that the plant of English manufacture was in condition for operation. Considerable difficulty was encountered with the binding material which had been provided for the purpose. This was coal-tar pitch furnished by the Barrett Manufacturing Company and was found to be rather too hard for the coals with which it was desired to use it, and for the heat which it was possible to obtain in the steam-jacketed reservoir attached to the machine and used for this purpose.

After experimenting for a week it was found necessary to close down the plant for alterations and repairs. On October 8 experimental work was begun on a cargo of pitch received from the Chatfield Manufacturing Company, of Cincinnati, Ohio. This pitch also was found to be too hard for successful use under existing conditions. The plant installed by the National Compressed Fuel Company was given a trial on September 27, but mechanical difficulties developed which necessitated changes, and it was not until October 10 that a successful run was made. This plant has the advantage of permitting tests to be made on small quantities of material, but the binder must be added in liquid form after being melted in the steam-jacketed tank. This limits its use to the more fusible binders, and has prevented any tests with the pitch now on hand.

From September 23 to October 8, nine briquetting tests were made. In some of these the results were satisfactory, but in most cases it was demonstrated that much more study will have to be given to the character of the coal, the binding material, etc., before a really successful commercial briquette can be made.

The Greasy Creek Mineral Company of Bell county, filed articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State at Frankfort, Ky., last Friday. The capital stock is $5,000 and the incorporators are H. N. Camp, George W. Ingram and R. C. Ford all of Middlesboro.

A party of Pennsylvania capitalists were in Henderson last week prospecting for coal and mineral lands in that vicinity. The gentlemen composing the party were representatives of some of the largest coal companies in their state and it is said that they were sent to Kentucky in search of new locations.

Messrs. Henry McDowell and Coy Farquhar, of St. Charles, visited relatives here Sunday.

GRAND LEADER.

John Carroll, of Victoria mines, visited friends here Sunday.

R. are being actively pushed by the old companies in that field and that a dozen new companies have commenced operations in that territory within the last two months.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH

Wm. Lang, Superintendent of Coal Mines at Blocton, Ala., is Dead From Assassins' Bullet.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 17.—The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company has offered a reward of $5,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who shot William Lang, superintendent of the coal mines at Blocton Saturday evening last. Mr. Lang died today. He was shot from ambush and the suspicion seems to be that the act was that of a union miner. Mr. Lang being especially objectionable to the craft now working the mines on the open shop basis.

The same night that Mr. Lang was wounded T. C. Williamson, a guard at another mine, was also shot from ambush and wounded, but will recover. It is understood that the Tennessee Company will make special private efforts to run down the man who fired the shots. The offer of $5,000 reward was made by the directors of the company in New York.

New Coal Mine Opened.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 17.—The stockholders of the Terry Coal & Coke Company, of Hopkinsville, held a meeting last evening, when a Board of Directors was elected, which elected the following officers: R. E. Cooper, President; L. G. Wil-

The company owns and controls over 1,000 acres of coal and timber lands in this and Hopkins County, joining the Empire and other veins. A new mine has been opened on this property in a four-foot vein of Peacock coal, which is being equipped with modern machinery.

President Magee, of the Morris Run Coal Co., at Morris Run, Pa., has had notices posted about the mines informing the men to chime between the company and the Miner's Union, saying the company will no longer deal with the latter. He announces that the company proposes to start the mines Dec. 1. The union miners have been on strike for some time.

Render, Echols and McHenry mines, on the Illinois Central railroad, have been out of water three weeks and are kept going now by the Illinois Central water train, which distributes water tanks daily to these mines. The water is hauled from Louisville. The railroad has also to haul its own water.

Jim Wood Shoots Check Weighman at Central City.

It is reported on good authority that Jas. D. Wood, Secy Treas. of the United Mine Workers organization, had a difficulty with Checkweighman Wright at Central City on the evening of November 10th and that Wood shot Wright, inflicting a wound on his head which narrowly escaped being fatal. The news of this trouble has so far escaped the press and seems to have been suppressed up to this time.

The Fiscal Court is in session and will cooperate in a more vigorous effort to stamp out the disease, which the large negro population in the county districts makes difficult.
